monthly reflections from Rev. Bob

Families, Families, Families

We recently attended the funeral of a dear saint from my first Michigan parish. In her 95 years she had raised, nurtured and fretted over four sons and got to enjoy several grandchildren, gently loving and guiding them on their life's path. They loved and honored her in return. It wasn't always easy. One son died decades ago of AIDS. Another died of I don't know what, but too young. A third is living with bad lungs and four heart stents. Families don't come with guarantees, even for Christians.

One of our favorite families is a couple who worked diligently to be able to adopt a baby. After some anxious times, they were able to bring their new baby home to a more unusual life. Years later, he's in school now and thriving, both academically and athletically, the black son of two gay white men, both of whom love him and each other very much. What a marvelous, unique family!

Recently I've had conversations with several people who were beaten by one or both of their parents when they were young. Another was beaten repeatedly by a spouse. While physical and emotional violence can sometimes lead to similar abuse in the next generation, thank God this is not guaranteed, and the cycle of violence can be broken. As I tell couples during pre-marital counseling, if a hand is ever laid on one in violence, there is only one word to be said: Good-bye. If a person waits, assuming there won't be a second occurrence, one is likely already trapped in the cycle.

Sometimes children disappoint their parents. Sometimes parents' hearts hurt for their children. We have hopes for them that may never come true. Jobs are lost, rent is due, homes are foreclosed, debt burdens our souls. The way ahead looks bleak. Sometimes family relationships are strained and occasionally broken. Good things happen when we are loved in spite of differences or disagreements or failures. Sometimes we simply agree to disagree and leave it at that. As a quiet person visiting my quieter parents, there are sometimes long gaps of stillness because most of what we can safely talk about is who is sick and who died. Or we're all asleep sitting up. To venture into the world of ideas, beliefs, politics or even faith in any honest way would only convince them further that I have deserted the beliefs they tried to instill in me.

I'm really loving being "Papa" to our new grandson. Most people don't realize that I have nine other step-grandchildren and a great-granddaughter by a previous marriage. Our relationships aren't broken; they are simply not close. Facebook provides all the contact that's needed for now. That seems to be how that part of my family operates best.

In our own immediate family, we'll be celebrating the baptism of our grandson in worship on May 7. There won't be a bunch of uncles and aunts because Jill's sisters broke off all contact with her after their father's death over four years ago. No explanation was ever given. They even "unfriended" her on Facebook. The recent death of a beloved uncle must have aroused some guilt in them as they emailed saying they couldn't live with the anger anymore. Apparently getting that off their chests was enough; there hasn't been any further effort at communication on their part. How sad all this would have made their parents! Families don't come with guarantees.

Our daughter's birth father readily admitted that he wasn't a good dad, having little contact with her, sporadically coming in and out of her life for years at a time. Minimal contact became a form of emotional protection for her and maybe for him too. But he has turned out to be a giddy and involved grandfather much to everyone's happy surprise, and mother and baby are the better for it. Families don't come with guarantees, but sometimes things work out well anyway.

It's easy to forget that Jesus' family just "didn't get" him for most of his life. One time they tried to get him to come home with them where he could recover from his delusions. His strange ideas made them fear for his safety — rightly so, as it turned out. Judging from different reactions in various gospels, even his mother didn't always understand or approve of him. Things changed after the resurrection. Maybe the change in Jesus' family is another strong evidence for the truth of the resurrection. One's relatives can be hard to convince. His mother became the model Christian and a brother, James, became the first leader of the Christian church in Jerusalem. But before all that Jesus changed peoples' thinking on what is a family. Family was never as important in the Bible as community. Without family support, Jesus found what he needed in the community of women and men who followed him, who supported him, who believed in him and his mission. The same is true today. Sometimes family doesn't mean blood relations. Sometimes we find what we need in a loving church that gives a deeper meaning to family.

Sunday, May 14, is known in United Methodist circles as The Festival of the Christian Home. Granted, family doesn't always feel like a festival. But sometimes it does. Families come in many varieties, and contrary to some beliefs, the Bible doesn't give us only one way to be a family. God does, however, insist that we learn to love each other. And what better place to practice that challenge than in our families, no matter what kind they are!

We are a Reconciling Congregation, which means:

The people of Ferndale First United Methodist Church are called to share God's love as we minister with and to all persons, providing worship, nurture, fellowship, and service. Our welcome knows no boundaries of age, race, ethnicity, culture, gender identity, sexual orientation, family configuration, and economic condition, physical or mental ability. We embrace and seek to preserve the beautiful, amazing diversity of God's creation. We cooperate in ministry with other local churches and groups of God's people as we participate in the worldwide mission of Christ. (based on 2 Corinthians 5.18)

We are a Sanctuary

Church. Our Church Council voted to be a church where a family of immigrants and/or refugees could be housed temporarily in an emergency to prevent them from being deported or separated. This is a major step in the life of our congregation, so we will soon be offering a training/information session on what it means to be a Sanctuary Church so our whole membership and Good Shepherd congregation can be aware of what is involved. (Meanwhile 7 of our members have received training and more information is available online from Michigan United, www.miunited.org)

Worship at Ferndale First

Worship at Ferndale First UMC in May *

May provides us with some outstanding opportunities to worship together, especially with those who have returned from the south and before some head off for summer vacations. It's a great time to celebrate what we have together in Christ.

May 7 – 4th Sunday of Easter, Why was First Church Jerusalem the liveliest place to be in those heady days after the resurrection? Those days are long gone, but does that mean we need to settle for deadly routine? Message: The Church That Couldn't Keep Folks Out, Acts 2.41–47. The baptism of Rhys Alejandro Bustamante Warren, grandson of Jill and Pastor Bob will take place.

May 14 – 5th Sunday of Easter; Festival of the Christian Home (Mother's Day); The role that mothers and other care givers have played in our lives will be the main feature of this service, and we will celebrate by bringing flowers to be planted around the church in honor of loved ones. (see p. 5 for details) Message: Answer to an Identity Crisis, 1 Peter 2.2–10, helps remind us who we are. Holy Communion and Anointing with Oil in dedication of our families will cap the day.

May 21 – 6th Sunday of Easter; Heritage Sunday; this is a celebration of those who went before us, leaving us a great example of faith and a beautiful building dedicated to God's use in Ferndale; living faithfully with that trust is our theme; Message: The Search for the Living Christ, Acts 17.22–31. In an age of doubt there's much more.

May 28 – 7th Sunday of Easter; Ascension Sunday. There are several ways to look at Jesus' farewell to his disciples. Let's see what we can make of them, since none of us had the opportunity to be there for the big event. What might they mean for us? Message: Jesus Bids Adieu, John 17.1–11 and Acts 1.6–12.

Who would you like to invite to worship with you next Sunday? (Depending on whose research you read, 65–85% of all people who attend a church for the first time come because they were invited by a friend, neighbor, co-worker or relative.)

* All messages subject to change with circumstances.

Memorial Day Parade: We Need Your Feet

Another opportunity to walk for those who are no longer with their units, their families, or their friends is sponsored by Michigan's Fallen.

Any financial donations (tax deductible) can be made to "First United Methodist Church" and on the memo line please add "Michigan's Fallen" to ensure your donation is passed along to the Michigan Fallen organization/committee.

The United Methodist Women

Greetings!!

Spring is here!! After a long winter, I am sure each and every one is ready for some sunshine. Even though we might get a little rain along the way, let us enjoy whatever Mother Nature has to offer. We are blest!! We are United Methodist Women. A warm welcome back for our President, Kathy Shuller.

Our program, Women in Red held on March 26, 2017, was very successful. Thanks to all who participated and helped with the planning. Our April 17, 2017 UMW meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Beverly Ratcliffe of Canton, Michigan. She was such a gracious host. Lunch was delicious, we all had an enjoyable time. We were given great information on certain birds. A job well done by our presenter. Thank you Mrs. Ratcliffe.

There are some important dates to remember. Items for the Rummage Sale can be brought in starting April 17, 2017. The setup dates start on Monday, May 15, 2017. The sale dates are Friday, May 19, and Saturday May 20, 2017. We need all the help we can get for this yearly event. Please plan on helping out. On Tuesday, May 30, 2017, members of our unit will be back at Gleaners in Pontiac to work on our mission project. Last year we did well. So let's do the same this year. More information on the time will be announced at our next UMW meeting.

Sisters continue to meet on Mondays at 12 noon. Prayers go out to UMW members who are sick and shut-in, and to those who are still away at their winter homes. Until then, may God continue to bless and keep each and every one. Remember, we are United Methodist Women. Faith, Hope and Love in Action

Blessings,
Blosel Gordon
Vice President

Coffee Hour

Hi Members,

I am writing this letter a little different. I have been asked why some coffee hours are not simple, donuts, bagels, cookies, finger snacks etc. If you choose to do a coffee hour that is not simple that is totally up to you. Just make sure that you note it in the sign up book that it is a meal instead.

I have also had questions about paper products. The church's policy is to use as few paper products as possible because of the environment. So the church does not supply any paper products except napkins. If for your coffee hour you would like to use paper products that is up to you as well, but understand that the church will not supply them. The church will supply dishware and silverware along with coffee, tea, juice, sugar, sugar sweetener and coffee cream.

Please remember so sign up for a Coffee Hour in the book in the hall upstairs between the office & Sanctuary. It can be found in the Social Hall on the stand during a Coffee Hour or Meal.

I hope this answers any questions you may have. I hope you think on doing a Coffee Hour.

I thank you in advance,
Sheila Colvin,
Coffee Coordinator

From the Family of Betty Charles:

Thank you from all of us. We thank the Lord for the blessing of our Mom and for wonderful people like you that have helped us navigate this time of grief.

*In Christ,
Leslie*

I would like to thank all for prayers sent up for my aunt Gussie Fair. She has healed well from her Pelvic injury.

HONORING MEMORIAL DAY

Wednesday, May 24, 6:00pm light supper, 7:00 p.m. Movie

Our tribute honoring all those who served and lost their lives is an enduring film.

“Taking Chance” is based on a true story of a young 19 year old Marine killed in the line of duty while serving in the Iraq war. Lt. Col. Michael Strobl (Kevin Bacon) volunteers to be the military escort officer who will accompany the young marine back to his home town of Dubois, Wyoming, where his family and friends wait to honor him one last time.

If you are looking for something to rekindle your interest in Memorial Day, or view an exceptional film honoring those who gave their all, come join us for an evening that will include a light meal, a great film, and a short discussion following the movie.

Please contribute by bringing finger food, pizza, salad item, pop/juice, or chips to be shared. A free will offering will be asked for the use of the room.

Any further questions can be directed to Larry Saville. Feel free to contact him at his home phone 248-397-8065 and leave a detailed message.

Giving and Living

The “M word.” Oh, if I could count the number of times that the word “money” has caused me stress or the number of times the mantra, “I hate money” has rolled off my lips, the numbers would be off the charts. See, I had long associated money with suffering — the suffering of my family, the suffering of the children I loved and saw starving to death in Guatemala, the suffering of the homeless I befriended, and even the suffering in my own life. In my mind and heart, a lack of money was generally the reason for suffering, and the existence of that lack could be directly correlated to the wealthy not sharing what they had. This was the perceived world that I lived in. A world where money was dirty, sinful, and hurtful... a world where I detested money and wanted to be free of it, yet I needed it to achieve the things that I had dreamed of. A world I could not escape.

Yet, the Lord is faithful, and in God’s kairos timing, something wonderful happened that helped change my perspective on money forever.

I was in my first semester at Western Theological Seminary — a journey I have never intended taking, but one that God made clear was the way for me to go — and I was trying to make it through the semester without taking out loans. I didn’t make it to my tuition goal, despite working three jobs and getting a scholarship, and I desperately needed financial help. I had no idea where to turn as, once again, tears stained my face surrounding the issue of finances.

In my moment of need, my bitterness and frustration towards money came crashing through, and crying out in anger and defeat, I called my sister in Christ to ask for prayer and her listening ear. I told her of my need of $3,000, and asked her to pray with me. However, instead of praying she said something to the extent of, “$3,000? That’s how much I have saved up! I have been asking God what to do with it, so I’ll send it your way!”

I was stunned. This was one of those out of left field moments where God comes crashing through. My friend was in a similar financial position to myself at the time, so asking her for financial help was never on my radar. Yet seeing a woman in such a position offer willingly all that she had for the Lord, with no strings attached... I was changed. God taught me that day, and keeps teaching me over and over again, that money is not inherently dirty, sinful, or hurtful, but the way it is stewarded in the lives of His people is what makes it a blessing or a curse. That day God taught me that with good stewardship rooted in Christ, money can build the Kingdom in ways I never could have dreamed. ...

Laura Claus is the Associate Pastor of Outreach and Small Groups at Orchard Hill Reformed Church in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

We all celebrated with Verdell Bell and her family on her birthday

Pastor’s Discretionary HELP Fund

While we will still give some grocery cards and bus passes, these will be more limited in frequency and amount and will require confirmation of their use. This is so we can save larger amounts for those who come with bigger needs, such as utility shut-offs, car repairs, rent, etc. Anyone can contribute an extra, designated gift to this fund at any time. We want to make the fund more effective and place it on a firmer footing by encouraging these extra gifts on each Holy Communion Sunday, (gifts at other times are always welcome). Again, these are “extra” gifts, for those who wish to do something more, over and above their regular, disciplined giving to Christ’s church. We have extra envelopes available on which you may write: HELP.

Some people’s life journey consists of simply trying to survive, often on the street. If you are approached by someone asking for money, please don’t be embarrassed to refer them to Pastor and the HELP Fund. You are strongly encouraged to not give cash. That is why many of you support the fund, so we can help people directly and fairly.

My goal is to maintain a healthy balance of $1000 for major needs. Special thanks to Meijers for donating several gift cards in varying amounts. These are now all gone. We will not give out more cards until the fund is rebuilt. The fund is growing, and we hope to again have our base balance in the near future. Thank you for your generous support.
